MELLON DECIDES TO RELEASE SHIPS SEIZED OUTSIDE LIMIT

Where There is no Evidence That Masters Were Using Their Boats to Land Liquor in the United States—Decision in Emerald Case Will be Followed in Other Cases.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 2.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has decided to order the release of foreign vessels seized outside the American three-mile limit for alleged violation of the national prohibition act, in cases where there is no evidence that masters were using their own boats to land liquor in the United States. It was officially announced at the treasury department today.

The exact number of ships to be released under this decision, was not made known at the treasury department, but it was stated that the order from the internal revenue bureau will turn back a few large vessels and a number of small ships of foreign registry. These vessels with their liquor cargoes, were seized by American prohibition officials outside the three-mile limit when it was suspected that efforts were being made to smuggle liquor into this country.

In some of the cases, liquor was being removed from the foreign ships to American vessels for transportation to shore, but under the decision reached by the treasury department in the case of the Canadian schooner Emerald, the United States government will not attempt to enforce the Volstead act upon a foreign vessel unless it is in communication with the shore by its own boats.

The Emerald was ordered released after protests had been made to the state department by the British ambassador. It was stated at the treasury department today that other protests had been received, and that conferences between officials and the state and treasury departments had resulted in the decision to release the vessels and cargoes seized outside the three-mile limit except in cases where there was sufficient evidence to hold the owners of the vessels.

MULLOON REFUSES TO TALK ON "QUEER" BOAT

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Nov. 2.—"I refuse to be interviewed," was the rather less-than-enthusiastic answer of William Muldoon, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, vouchsafed today in reply to a question as to why bets on the welterweight championship bout between Jack Britton and Mickey Walker were declared off before the fight began.

"Last night's affair is over," he added. "It is a closed incident." "Then there will be no investigation of the bout by the commission?" "Absolutely none," was the heated reply. The color rising in the commissioner's cheeks as he spoke. Muldoon was in an early morning conference with Henry Burchal, secretary of the commission, but whether their discussion touched on the unusual aspects of last night's bout, is not known.

SERIOUS SPILL IN CHICAGO BIKE RACE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Chicago, Nov. 2.—Eight riders competing in the six day bicycle race at the Coliseum were hurled unconscious in four spills which marked the early part of the day.

Alphonse Speisens, the Belgian champion, was the most seriously injured. He was taken to a hospital and it was feared his skull is fractured. Others hurt were Bobby Walther, Jr., Oliveri, Lands, Gaffney, Kopiky, Plimsimons and Spencer.

Tobacco Census.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 2.—The census bureau announced today that 1,457,229,214 pounds of leaf tobacco was held by dealers and others on October 1, 1922, compared with 1,616,386,137 pounds on July 1 and 1,784,550,762 pounds on April 1. Estimated tobacco on October 1, totaled 1,302,308,044 pounds, stemmed 1,215,130,270.

Rotary Concert Nets $600 For Boys' Work

Marine Band Played Here For $1 Admission As Against $2 At Troy and $3 in New York—The Rev. Mr. Boeve Weekly Luncheon Speaker.

With a few minor items still unsettled, Dr. C. D. Carter, treasurer of the Kingston Rotary Club, was able to report at the luncheon on Wednesday that the net proceeds of the Marine Band concert would be between $600 and $700. In view of the fact that the Rotary Club set out to give Kingston folks a musical "Dollar Day" affair, a concert here for one dollar that had cost two dollars in Troy the day before and three dollars in New York a few weeks ago, the showing is rather remarkable. The profit from this concert will be used in work for boys and crippled children.

The speaker at the luncheon was the Rev. Lucas Boeve, pastor of the First Reformed Church, who delivered an elegant and inspiring address on "The Business of Man Making," which was greatly appreciated.

TURKEY NOW NEARLY REPUBLIC

Nationalists Oust Sultan and Reserve Right to Name New Ruler—Is Now "Turkish State."

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Constantinople, Nov. 2.—The Turkish Nationalist assembly at Angora was reported today to have deposed the sultan of Turkey. On two previous occasions the sultan was said to have resigned.

Paris, Nov. 2.—The Turkish Nationalist assembly at Angora has adopted a resolution deposing the sultan but not naming any successor, said advices from Constantinople today.

The Angora assembly reserved the right to name the new ruler without any regard to dynastic rights. The nation's name has been changed from the "Ottoman Empire" to the "Turkish State," which is regarded as tantamount to proclaiming a republic.

LABOR LOSES IN LONDON ELECTIONS

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, Nov. 2.—Labor received a hard blow in the borough election in London, it was revealed today by tabulation of late returns. Labor lost 149 seats in the borough administration. Political observers believe that this result indicates similar consequences when the general election takes place on November 15.

Supporters of Premier Law said that they believed the indications of yesterday's election favored the Tories.

Premier Law in an address at Drury Lane Theatre today, appealed to the women to support the Tory candidates.

The Chronicle, mouthpiece of Lloyd-George, predicts "many surprises" on nomination day when the candidates for commons officially file their candidacies.

MANHATTAN TO FEEL MOST LACK OF COAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Nov. 2.—Manhattan Island, the heart of Greater New York, will probably suffer from fuel shortage more than any other city in the country this winter, according to New York State Fuel Administration officials. Because its long, narrow conformation, Manhattan affords but scant space for railroads and storage facilities and is accessible to freight only by boat. There are no railroad bridges.

MILLER MOVES OVER TO NASSAU

Smith and Hyman Contested Wednesday Night With Hughes and the Governor.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Nov. 2.—Governor Miller journeyed to Nassau county today in his campaign for re-election, being booked for a speech at Hempstead tonight. Alfred E. Smith, his Democratic opponent, will invade Staten Island.

In his speech last night Governor Miller praised the record of President Harding backed him for re-election and said that Secretary of State Hughes would be his (the governor's) second choice. Governor Miller also defended the tariff. Secretary Hughes also spoke on the same platform with the governor and predicted the latter's re-election next Tuesday.

Smith made the only speech he will make in the campaign in Brooklyn last night. Mayor Hyman was chairman of the meeting. In his speech Smith declared it was the duty of the government to aid the downtrodden. Mayor Hyman declared that the governor had stripped all powers from municipalities and was now talking home rule.

"SHARP PRACTICE" IN SENATORSHIP FIGHT

"Tainted" Lead Pencils Keep Paddy Off Official Ballot.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, Nov. 2.—Lead pencils and literacy may decide the United States senatorship in Texas. State courts have ruled that because of alleged irregularities in the state primaries neither Mayfield, regular Democratic, nor Paddy, independent candidate, is entitled to have his name placed on the official ballot to be voted in the elections next Tuesday.

Adherents of Paddy had rushed from New York 500,000 lead pencils on which were printed instructions how to use in marking the ballot, the Texas voters having to resort to "writing" the name of their choice in a blank left on the ballot sheet. These pencils are being mailed to the registered voters.

"Sharp practice," the friends of Mayfield are charging. The senate may be called upon to decide the ethics of the case, a contest over the seat being possible and the senate is judge of the title and qualifications of its own members.

TWO KILLED IN PENNA. FREIGHT WRECK

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Norristown, Pa., Nov. 2.—J. H. Gable, 52, engineer, and William Lefevre, aged 49, a brakeman, both of Harrisburg, were killed and J. W. Powers, a fireman of the same place, slightly hurt when two west bound freight trains crashed on the Trenton "cut-off" of the Pennsylvania railroad here early today.

It is alleged that Gable's train came out of a switch and plowed through the center of a train which was passing at the time.

His engine was overturned and a number of cars derailed.

TROY AND EVERETT TO MOVE OFFICES SOON

By Telegram to The Freeman.

On December 1, Peter H. Troy will move his broker's office from the Eagle Hotel to the Burgevin building and will occupy the offices now occupied by Ward B. Everett, 243 Fair street. Mr. Everett will move his insurance and real estate offices to the Warren building, 260 Fair street, having leased the offices on the second floor over the uptown post office station, formerly occupied by Amos Van Etten, attorney at law.

$230,000 MORE STATE REVENUE

Results From Real Estate and Billiard License Law—Half Goes To Communities—Miller Made Cost Of Collection Nothing.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, Nov. 2.—Additional revenue to the state of $230,000 without any additional cost is the record to date of the new state laws providing for the licensing of real estate brokers and operators and of billiard rooms, according to the State Tax Commission. One half of the collections will go back to the communities to reduce local taxes, and New York city has already received a check for $65,000 as its first share in this distribution.

Before the measures became laws, the Tax Commission opposed them on the ground that there was no additional appropriation provided for their administration, and under the terms of the bills collections could not be used for administration. Governor Miller, however, declined to authorize additional expenditures for this purpose, signed the measures and asked the Tax Department to do the best it could in the way of administration.

"We are glad to be able to admit that the Governor was right, Walter W. Law, president of the Commission, declared today; cooperation on the part of all the bureaus of the Tax Department and superior work by the employees have resulted in the very excellent record of $230,000 in additional revenue without any additional overhead."

DR. BARKER TO TALK HERE NOV. 15

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Dr. Charles E. Barker, for four years health advisor to President Taft, an expert on hygiene and disease prevention, who has a national reputation as a lecturer on these topics, will deliver three addresses in the Kingston High School auditorium on Wednesday, November 15. Dr. Barker comes here under the auspices and with the support of the Men's Clubs of the Church of the Comforter, the St. James M. E. Church, the Wurts Street Baptist Church and the Fair Street Reformed Church, the Winners Class of the Clinton Avenue M. E. Church, the Knights of Columbus and the Kiwanis Club all cooperating with the Henry Club, which instituted this movement to bring Dr. Barker here. Dr. Barker will speak at 1:30 to the high school; at 3:30 on "A Mother's Relation to Her Daughter," to women only and at 8 p. m. "A Father's Responsibility to His Son," to men only. Admission will be free and there will be no collection, all expenses having been paid by the various organizations who have united to bring Dr. Barker to Kingston.

PLANS PRIVATE LIGHTING SYSTEM FOR WOODSTOCK

Artist Colony Claimed Lights Would Spoil Attractiveness.

Henry Anderson of Woodstock is planning the installation of an electric lighting system to accommodate his homes.

The late plans of the United Hudson Electric Corporation to furnish power for Woodstock have not materialized and the demand for lighting in many homes where private plants are not available has led by Mr. Anderson to formulate plans to install a system that will furnish immediate relief for those who desire electric lights in their homes. Mr. Anderson has been a student of electrical engineering for some time, and last summer opened the "Handy Andy Shop" in Woodstock, which he maintains at this time.

Much of the opposition met last summer in the attempt to put a power line through Woodstock came from members of the artist colony who felt that street lights would rob the village of its attractiveness.

BIRKENHEAD SEES NO HARM IN U. S. DUN

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Bristol, England, Nov. 2.—"We do not think that the United States is quarrelling with her excellent friend, Great Britain, when she politely reminds us that we owe her money," said Lord Birkenhead, the lord chancellor, in a political speech here today.

"I do not see why other nations should be so sensitive on this matter of business. We ourselves are in a position to make a claim upon the belligerents of Europe."

"Our credit, by the way, stands very high."

Lord Birkenhead, who is a member of the Tory party, strongly defended the policy of the old coalition government of Lloyd-George.

Small Boy Breaks Big Glass.

The large plate glass window in the front of the Freeman Branch, 280 Fair street, was broken into many pieces Wednesday evening about 5:20 o'clock, by reason of a small newsboy being pushed from the back of another newsboy on which he had jumped. The show window was about seven feet square of a quarter of an inch thickness. Fortunately neither of the boys were hurt by the glass. The plate glass window was insured by the John N. REGISTRATION OFF 279,116 IN 1922

New York City Slumps More Than Upstate Which Miller Men Regard As Significant—Ulster Falls Off 3,878.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, Nov. 2.—A total of 3,264,840 persons, or 279,116 less than in 1920, are eligible to vote in this state next Tuesday. Official registration figures just compiled by Secretary of State John J. Lyons, and made public today, present some decidedly interesting comparisons.

While New York city has shown a slump of 193,034, in its registration this year, as compared to 1920, upstate is revealed with a slump of only 8,082.

This is regarded as highly significant from a Republican viewpoint, when it is considered that in the last election, every county outside of New York city returned a plurality for Miller.

In 1920, the total registration in this state was 3,453,966, slumping to 3,337,561 the year following, a decrease of 206,395.

Outside of New York city, in 1920, the registration was 2,170,410. This dropped to 2,076,221 the following year, but returned to 2,064,328 this year. In New York city, the 1920 registration amounted to 1,373,546, dropping to 1,262,340 in 1921 and to 1,165,512 this year.

Excluding New York city, the other big centres of population, Albany, Utica, Syracuse, Rochester and Buffalo, show a registration this year of 1,644,035, as compared to 1,631,305 in 1921 and 1,770,370 two years ago.

Thirty-eight cities in the state, outside of New York city, have a registration this year of 628,064, as compared to 629,296 a year ago, and of 691,734 in 1920.

Thirteen counties in the state show an increase in registration this year, as compared to 1920, leaving 49 showing decreases. There were 34 counties having increased registration this year, as compared to a year ago, leaving 28 showing decreases.

The important part which is played each election by the blank and void ballots, is revealed by the fact that out of 2,962,645 votes cast in 1920, no less than 94,639 were reported as blank and void.

Ulster county registration in 1922 was 39,812; in 1921 it was 43,183 and in 1920, 43,264.

DR. GARFIELD'S IDEA OF THE "LIVING WAGE"

By Telegram to The Freeman.

North Adams, Mass., Nov. 2.—Defining a "living wage," Dr. Harry A. Garfield, president of Williams College and former national fuel administrator, declared that the wage of an unskilled laborer need not necessarily be more than enough to support the laborer himself. Garfield expressed the opinion that if the unskilled laborer wished to marry, he should improve his condition and become a skilled laborer.

Boy Builds Own Radio Set, Hears Far West

Paul Glaister, 15-year-old Napanoch Youth, Listens to El Paso Station and Thinks Nothing of Taking Chicago Program—Working To Get Pacific Coast Signals.

Ellenville, Oct. 2.—What is believed to be a remarkable feat was accomplished at Napanoch, on Sunday evening, October 23rd, when Paul Glaister, who makes his home with Captain John L. Hoffman of Napanoch, succeeded in receiving radio messages from Station W. O. C. School of Chiropodics, at Davenport, Iowa, and Station W. D. A. H. at El Paso, Texas, Mine and Smeiter Supply Company, with an instrument which was nearly all constructed by Young Glaister himself, with an idea of using it for experimental purposes.

Young Glaister who is an enthusiastic fan, can very easily get in touch with Stations W. L. W. Cincinnati, O., Crosby Manufacturing Company; K. Y. W. Chicago, Ill., Westinghouse Manufacturing Company; W. H. A. S. Louisville, Ky., Courier and Louisville Times; W. S. B. Atlanta, Ga., besides other points too numerous to mention here.

Glaister, who was 15 years of age last July, after becoming interested in radio decided to take up the study of it on the side, besides attending to his other studies in high school and purchased some parts in various radio stores, and set about to make a modern up to date outfit with the idea of receiving messages from any stations he could reach.

Young Mr. Glaister now expects to extend his experiments, and is confident of being able to reach various radio stations on the Pacific Coast.

With his instrument it is a common occurrence for the Hoffman family to listen in on a lecture being broadcasted from Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Detroit, Chicago, and many other distant cities with the result Mr. Hoffman afterward relates to the officers at the Napanoch Institution the next morning what has transpired at some distant city about which they will read in the daily papers of that day.

Mr. Glaister's success is being commented upon and seems to be the topic of conversation of all those who are interested in radio devices and messages.

Although very young Paul is a graduate of the Ellenville High School, but is still attending the school in order to complete a technical course which he is following and which he feels he needs in order to complete his education.

Just what line of work or what business he intends to pursue is not yet fully decided, but best wishes for the future of such a brilliant and accomplished young man is extended by all who know him and all who are anxious for every ambitious young man's success.

The Freeman and its readers will be informed of Mr. Glaister's future success in his efforts to communicate with the radio stations.

REV. F. B. SEELEY ADDRESSES HI-Y

At Weekly Meeting Wednesday Evening at "Y"—Gives Very Interesting Talk on the Realization of Life.

The weekly meeting of the Hi-Y Club was held Wednesday evening at its rooms in the Central Y. M. C. A. The fellows were overjoyed to again have with them President Adolf Stumpf, who has been absent for the past few weeks on account of his being hurt. After the supper, the Rev. F. B. Seeley gave the fellows a very excellent talk. His theme was about work and life. Mr. Seeley spoke of the many institutions that now exist in the youth of our land. "What," he asked, "is the purpose of all these? Why do we have Y. M. C. A.'s? Why do we go to school?" His answer was "that the purpose of life was to realize the most possible from it both for one's self and the other fellow. It is not how much these institutions put into the fellow, but how much he puts into them. It is not what work gives him, but what he gives to his work."

The Rev. Seeley illustrated his point by several examples. He told of one fellow who was one of the brightest pupils at Johns Hopkins University, who, when he finished his course there, went to Arabia, where he put the best of what was in him into working for the people there. He studied the land and conditions, and finally wrote a manual on the country. When England began her campaign in that country and in Mesopotamia in the recent war, the British found the manual and the men who wrote it of invaluable aid. Today that man is one of the best known men in England, Paul Harrison.

The case of Livingston, the man who penetrated the "Impenetrable" jungles of Africa to bring the light of civilization to the natives, is another case that shows very plainly that the worth of life is determined by what one puts into it for other people.

Another man, who was "just an ordinary fellow," some twenty years ago graduated from a western high school. During his course there he worked in a bank, doing mental tasks to provide an education. Later he was employed at the bank as a clerk. During this time he studied stenography, typewriting and telegraphy. He rose in life until now he is president of one of the largest banks in New York city. He credits his success to the fact that he always did more than was required of him, always put more of his best efforts into his work than he was getting paid for doing.

Many people today worry over the present generation, but Dr. Seeley said that he is not pessimistic over it in the least. Some of the fellows are like the front wheels of the automobile, they go when they are pushed, but have no motive power of their own. When the rear wheels, the fellows with energy, move the vehicle, the motiveless go along. They go before the rush, but do not go where they wish, only where they are pushed. The business men of today are looking for the fellows who are like the rear wheels, fellows who go of their own accord, fellows who do more than watch the clock, fellows who put just a little more into their work than is required of them.

The "sky pilot" job is in Mr. Seeley's eyes, the best job in the world. He says that that is the way every man should feel toward his own job. He should honor his position, and take pride in it, enough pride to put into the work the very best that is in him. A fellow should choose the place to which he has a calling. The job in one's life work comes from doing it well.

The purpose of all the present civic and religious organizations is to develop the type of manhood that is needed in the world today. These institutions are here to build up the highest type of manhood possible. When the present members make good in their life they will be proud to look back to these institutions which helped them in their youth.

Mr. Seeley concluded by saying that if a man puts the best of him into his work, the best will always come back to him.

DRAMA, COMEDY AT K. H. S., FRIDAY

To Be Presented Tomorrow Night at High School Auditorium—Plays Are Supervised by Miss Carter—Scenery by Manual Department.

Attention of the people is again called to the entertainment to be given in the auditorium of the high school this Friday evening, for the purpose of raising funds to provide better equipment for the gymnasium. The students taking part have been working hard, and under the supervision of Miss Carter of the public speaking department, have taken to their parts very well. Those who are acquainted with the manner in which the students of the school have produced the plays in former years know what to expect; they know that the entertainment is going to be well worth the price of admission. Last year, the public was so pleased with the production of the senior play, "Pomander Walk," that a great many requests to have it repeated were made. Of course, due to the nearness of the June regents, it was not possible. Those who could not see "Pomander Walk" at the time it was presented will never be able to see the members of the Class of '22 in action on the stage. However, they will be able to see a production which is put on under the same direction as was "Pomander Walk." Miss Carter, who coached the play last year, is coach of the plays of this entertainment, aided by the Misses Baragwanath, Boyd and Smith. The plays will be of the same type as the quaint old English play given last spring, except that they will be shorter.

The boys of the manual training department are making the scenery. Those who saw "Pomander Walk" remember what good effects were brought out by the apparatus and background set up by the shop boys. The scenery for both "Allison's Lad" and "Joint Owners in Spain" is now taking form fast and from the looks of the first "proofs," as it were, the scenery is again going to be excellent.

Tickets for the entertainment can be had at the high school or from almost any high school student.

Miss Calla Williams, of San Francisco, has managed to save enough from her meagre earnings to buy a little plot of land for her aged mother. She needs sufficient to erect a home and has offered to sell herself in marriage for $5,000 to any American-born man under fifty and of good character.

PROF. RICHARD COON TALKS TO MORAN SCHOOL STUDENTS.

"One careless act, however slight, may shatter your employer's confidence in you. Walk a mile, or two miles, or five, to keep your word—thus retaining the confidence of your employer, your friends and business associates. Stick to the task until it is done, as it should be done; it may mean hard work—an hour or two overtime, perhaps—but remember that it is never too hard work for you to labor earnestly to get a thing correct—to inspire the confidence of your employer in your dependability. You will encounter many obstacles in the way of your advancement in business, and experience has taught that the strongest protection against these obstacles is personal efficiency—efficiency that is reflected in the work you do."

This epitomizes the remarks of Prof. Richard Coon, school representative of the American Book Company, New York city, to the students of the Moran Business School, Burgevin Building, Fair and Main streets, Wednesday afternoon.

Professor Coon is widely known in educational circles for his brilliant talks on business ethics, and his half-hour address to the students of the Moran School was replete with sound advice—administered, of course, in small doses—and carefully condensed in a cloak of sparkling, witty illustrations that invariably carried straight to the mark. Young people are most appreciative of these talks given by Professor Coon from time to time. Needless to say, a hearty welcome is always in store for him at the Moran Business School.

Three men kissed her

The First on the Cheek

In that beautiful garden of de Praille, with its great trees, gorgeous women, wine, dancing, made revelry—And within ten minutes he had lost the world, because of it.

The Second Kissed Her on the Mouth

He was rich and young and handsome, indeed the most handsome man of all the millions in the country. And he was sent away, far out of the country, because of that kiss.

The Third Kissed Her on the Forehead

He was Danton, the nation's hero—and the nation turned against him. Rule by a nod—unseated by a kiss, for later—

It is the Story of the Three Kisses of Henrietta Girard, the little love girl who brought her blind sister to Paris.

JACOBSONS TO ENLARGE PLANT

Plans to Increase Size of Albany Plant From Three to Five Stories on Account of Increasing Business—Deny Rumor of Removal of Kingston Plant.

J. Jacobson & Sons, shirt manufacturers, have planned to enlarge their three story plant at Albany by adding an additional two stories to the building. The fact that the Jacobsons have been acquiring more and in Albany adjoining the present plant led to rumors that the firm intended removing its plants from Troy and Kingston and consolidating its business in Albany.

This afternoon The Freeman was informed by Sam Jacobson, one of the sons, who is located at the corner street plant, that the firm had no intention of abandoning the Kingston plant. Mr. Jacobson called attention to the fact that within the past six months the firm had completed a large addition to the plant here, which is considered a model factory building.

The Jacobsons are satisfied with their conditions in Kingston and with the facilities afforded in handling their output here. Mr. Jacobson said with a smile that it looked as though they intended remaining located in Kingston for life, and that it was due to increasing business that it had been found necessary to enlarge the plant here.

TELEPHONE COMPANY ORDERS LARSEN BUILDING REMOVED

Frame Building On Hasbrouck Avenue To Be Taken Down.

The frame building erected at the corner of Hasbrouck avenue and the high road a number of years ago by the late Chris Larsen, and used by him for many years as a paint shop, has been ordered removed from the lot which is owned by the Newark Lime & Cement Company.

The building has been used of late years as a warehouse by the firm of McMillan & Hale of the Strand, who have leased the warehouse on Catherine street owned by Carl G. Fisher.

From what could be learned the cement company advanced no reason for having the building removed. At the time it was erected the land was owned by Mr. Larsen, and it is understood that the lease expired.

Whether the cement company intends selling the property on which the building had been standing or not could not be learned.

Society Notes

Crook-Contant.

Frank D. Crook of No. 100 Hunter street and Elizabeth C. Contant of No. 33 Elmendorf street, were united in marriage at the home of the bride Wednesday evening by the Rev. Dr. Putnam Cady of the First Presbyterian Church. They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Norman Ryan. After a honeymoon trip Mr. and Mrs. Crook will reside on Elmendorf street.

Subscription Dance.

Friday evening in the home of the Knights of Columbus on Broadway, occurs the subscription dancing party which is being given by the Catholic Daughters of America for their friends, and promises to be an exceptionally pleasurable affair. Billie's full orchestra will furnish the music for dancing, which speaks for the dancers a program of delightful numbers.

Hyatt-Krom.

A very quiet wedding took place Wednesday noon at the St. James parsonage. The contracting parties were Mortimer M. Hyatt and Miss Sarah Frances Krom, both of this city. The witnesses were Myrtle D. Krom, a sister of the bride, and Olive J. Barclay. The Rev. Dr. T. H. Baragwanath was the officiating clergyman. The young couple, after the honeymoon, will reside in New Jersey.

Underhill-Warren.

Miss Jennie Warren and Richard Underhill, both of Saugerties, were married Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock in St. Mary's Church, Saugerties. The Rev. Martin P. O'Garra officiating. The attendants were Miss Ella Warren, sister of the bride, and Raymond Underhill, brother of the groom. The bride was attired in white tulle and Spanish lace. The bridesmaid wore canary canteen crepe and hat to match. She carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. A reception and dance was held in Firemen's Hall, Glasco. Music was furnished by the Merry Melody Orchestra.

Halloween Party at Benedictine.

Of all the pretty places in town, the Nurses' Home of the Benedictine Hospital was surely the prettiest on Wednesday evening, when the graduate nurses gave a Halloween party to their friends and to the members of the staff and their wives. Nor did the fact that the party had to be held on Wednesday instead of Tuesday evening, interfere with the ghostly atmosphere so necessary to such affairs. Evidently the Spirit of Halloween just stayed over one night.

As one approached the entrance of the Nurses' Home, one found the outside lights shrouded in streamers of orange and black paper, a very effective greeting. Inside the Home, autumn leaves, chrysanthemums, Jack O'Lanterns, and appropriately shaded candles turned the place into a veritable beauty spot. Then a real witch had been captured. Madam Tasseta, who with the assistance of a fascinating gypsy, Madam Esaraida, kept boiling a cauldron of potent mixture, over a realistic fire, as an inducement to the guests to have their fortunes told. And they were some fortunes! Of course crossing the palm with a willow is a requisite of having one's fortune told, so of the nurses, thanks to their witch and gypsy guests' generosity may now purchase a worth while picture for the living room of the Home.

Dancing to the music of a Victrola and games were enjoyed, and then the party, at about eleven o'clock, numbering in all some fifty or sixty guests, repaired to the nurses' demonstration room just below the living room, which had also become rich in autumnal decorations. Here two ghosts served delicious refreshments to the guests who had been adorned—the women with orange and black aprons and the men with orange and black caps and horns, many of those same refreshments being appropriate to the occasion. The ghostly charm ended with the stroke of midnight, but the remembrance of the happy evening will withstand many and many a midnight hour. It was remarked that just one such occasion proved the inestimable value of the Nurses' Home in their daily life. The delightful affair was in charge of Miss Hannah Burns and Miss Cassidy.

HUNTER, ACCIDENTALLY SHOT, BLEED TO DEATH

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 2.—Albert F. Snyder, 54, of Highland street, is dead today, the first Syracuse hunting victim of the season. Shot while hunting near Cross Lake, he died from loss of blood as he was being rushed in an automobile to the Syracuse Hospital. Snyder was one of three hunters who were climbing through a wire fence in a field near the lake when a gun in the hands of George Fleck was accidentally discharged. The shot tore a gash in Snyder's leg. Attempts were made by Fleck and Albert Walters of 122 Schiller avenue to bandage Snyder's wounded leg when they placed him in an automobile owned by Adelbert M. Hart of Memphis, to begin the race to the hospital. None of the men were experienced in first aid work and did not make a first aid.

Fire in Brooklyn.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, Nov. 2.—Seventy-five former service men undergoing vocational training at the New York Institute of Photography in Brooklyn, were driven from the building today when fire was discovered in the cellar. All reached the street safely.

Bailey Case Saturday.

This morning in police court another adjournment was taken in the case of John Bailey, the young negro residing at No. 47 Murray street, who is under arrest on a charge of assaulting a little nine year old negro girl.

A bricklayer of Bristol, over seventy years of age, has just retired from his trade and started a market garden. Surely, this is rather late in life to start work. —Punching Show.

Soap.

Pliny claims soap was an invention of the Gauls, but the answer to this question is not known. Soap is mentioned in the Bible, but the Hebrew "horith" (soap) is merely a general term for cleansing substance. Manufacture of soap on a large scale first began in London in 1524.

KINGSTON, N. Y., NOV. 2, 1922.

THE IDEAL SENATOR.

Experience and training pre-eminently qualify Arthur F. Bouton for the important office of state senator in this district, and his nomination by the Republican party this year furnishes more proof of the party's desire to furnish the state government with the highest type of citizenship. Born and reared in an agricultural county, Mr. Bouton has at all times maintained an active interest in the basic industry of the county while continuing successfully the practice of his profession. As a lawyer he has appeared in the Supreme Court here on innumerable occasions ever since his admission to the bar and always has created a most favorable impression of his ability and fairness. These characteristics appealed so strongly to Governor Charles S. Whitman that he appointed Mr. Bouton as one of the trustees of the New York State Agricultural College at Delhi, and caused Governor Miller to re-appoint him to the same responsible position. His fidelity to the agricultural interests have been demonstrated by his active service as a member of the Delaware County Farm and Home Bureau since its organization. His business experience caused his selection as president of the National Bank of Roxbury, and his extensive experience in the practice of the law has brought him in close personal contact with the big problems which confront the state of New York. Such a man is needed in the legislature, and the man or woman of the Ulster-Delaware-Green County district who votes for Mr. Bouton for senator will not make a mistake.

VAN WAGENEN MADE GOOD

The succession of accomplishments for the people of Ulster county which have characterized the record of Assemblyman Simon H. Van Wagenen place him in the foremost rank of public officials who have "made good." From the beginning of his legislative career he devoted his energies at Albany to procuring the legislation which he knew the people wanted. Conspicuous among the measures he advocated and succeeded in having enacted into law was the bill by which the state performed what was considered impossible without years of effort—the appropriation of $400,000 to complete the Rondout Creek Bridge. And then when the work slackened at the end, it was Mr. Van Wagenen who completed the approach to the bridge and made it possible for the traveling public to use the same long before the promised time. In legislative bodies, the value of a representative to his district grows greater with his term of service, because he knows the legislative procedure and because his associates learn readily that his return to their body year after year bespeaks a public confidence in him and his measures which they quickly heed. By experience in various lines of business Assemblyman Van Wagenen has gained the broad knowledge which constitutes true education, whose value to the people of Ulster has proved invaluable in the past and will grow greater with his reelection. The great principles which Governor Miller is striving to enact into law for the benefit of the Empire State need the aid of a Republican legislator, and a vote for Mr. Van Wagenen is a vote to continue united support of the Republican state administration.

DAUGHERTY SUPPORTED.

The transatlantic liners have lost in their appeal to Judge Hand. He supports the prohibition ruling of Attorney-General Daugherty, and it is stated that he could not do otherwise in view of the decision of the United States Supreme Court that the transit of intoxicating beverages within or across territory of the United States is forbidden by the Volstead law, the ocean for three miles out being in a legal sense American territory. The foreign vessels won on one point, however; they can bring wine into American waters and give it to their crews only when this is required by the laws of their countries. Another exception is made in favor of the foreign embassies, to which liquors may be consumed. These are prudent exceptions, though apparently inconsistent. The foreign liners are forbidden to bring in liquors even sealed, yet they may bring them in unsealed to give to their crews. And are the embassies at Washington foreign territory to a fuller extent than the inside of foreign ships entering our ports?

The interesting announcement is made that the head of the Shipping Board will withdraw American liners from business because, as Mr. Lusk is quoted, "It is silly to talk about American ships striving for business when they are denied the right to use a wine list while foreign ships run unrestricted." The object aimed at is the denial to foreign ships of the right which gives them such commercial advantage, but how far this effort will go seems problematical, for Prohibition Commissioner Haynes announces his intention to proceed "sensibly and sanely, and not technically." Whatever this may mean, it is obvious that an attempt to seize and confiscate British, French and Italian liners would invite consequences of an extremely serious nature.

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper, enclosing self-addressed and stamped envelope for reply.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. What is the incubation period of the robin? The English sparrow? 2. Are the little gherkins used in pickle a special kind of cucumber, or just tiny ones? 3. Are flies generally considered better than for trout than natural bait?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. Do squirrels live all over the world? They are not native to Australia and Madagascar, but elsewhere in the temperate and tropic regions are well distributed. In North America alone 38 species have been named.

2. Is there any book giving incubation tables for birds? Some of the ornithologists mention the incubation period for certain of the birds, but we do not happen to know of one—a general bird book, that is—that consistently covers this point for all species. But we have recently been recommended (by one of our Advisory Board) to a new publication, "A Study of the Incubation Period of Birds" by W. H. Bergold, as reliable and full.

3. Do different varieties of potato mix in the field? We don't know exactly what is meant. Cross pollination of blossoms in the field by visits of insects, would affect seeds matured from these blossoms. These would probably not "breed true" any more than apple seeds do. But potatoes are reproduced for agricultural purposes from the eyes of the tubers, just as apples are reproduced by grafts. The plants grown from eyes do breed true. New varieties could be obtained, however, by mixing pollen in the blossoms, and thus getting new seed.

The collection next Sunday, November 5, will be for the rebuilding of Hope College, Michigan, where students are educated for the Reformed ministry.

Our Halloween social was quite well attended. We were glad to have with us some Blue Mountain friends.

GLASCO.

Glasco, Nov. 2.—Tuesday, October 31, the Glasco school was the scene of a very happy occasion, it being the birthday of the principal, Paul Newkirk. When Mr. Newkirk entered his room for the afternoon session he was happily surprised to find his pupils there and the room very tastefully decorated with the season's bright colors, while on his desk was a glowing birthday cake and several gifts. The afternoon was enjoyably spent and the pupils departed wishing their teacher many happy birthdays.

THE OFFICE CAT

By J. J. J. J.

The Marriage Applicant.

Andrew Jackson Drexel, elevator man has been intensely interested in a proposed marriage lottery and he hopes to win himself a wife—somebody who can wash an iron and is a cookin' woman.

The other day Andrew got hold of one of the application blanks they are sending out from New Jersey and he wanted to fill it out. It went over his head, but he made a brave stab at the thing with the following result:

1. Name? Andrew Jackson Drexel (no Biddle).

2. Age? Over 21.

3. Occupation? Colored.

4. Do you want husband or wife? I prefer a single woman with impediments.

5. Residence? Sometimes here and sometimes on Seventh avenue.

6. Complexion? Yes.

7. Where born? In the A. M. E. hospital.

8. Religion? Yes, I got that, too.

9. Condition of health? Pretty fair if I stays off my feet. The old dogs ain't so good.

10. Ambitions? A couple of good bones and three squares a day.

11. Have you ever been married? You'd thought so if you had seen her. Some wife, yessah!

12. Who received the divorce decree? We didn't have no decree. We had a decision. I won that on a foul.

13. On what grounds was the divorce granted? Co't house.

14. How far advanced are you from an educational standpoint? (Silence).

15. What pleasures suit you best? Galloping ivories or maybe a good roast ham with little gravy.

16. What are your special talents? Sevensing.

17. Do you insist that your mate come from same community you live in? No. I ain't seen none in my community that is worth insisting on.

18. Give two good references. Britannicum and Hoyle's Rules.

19. Do you prefer a heavy or a light weight mate? Yes, one or the other.

If people put the same concentration and energy in their work that they do in their worries, their success is assured.

The world may owe us a living, but we've got to be good collectors to get it.

Waitress—"And how did you find the apple pie sir?"

Diner—"I moved the bit of cheese aside and there it was."

Something not to worry about: Why bobbed hair makes it so a jealous wife can't find long hairs on her husband's coat.

Mabel—Auntie, will the leaves come out on the trees again?

Auntie—Yes, dear, in the spring time.

Mabel—Do the trees put away their clothes in their trunks in winter, auntie?

"What's a death rattle, pop?"

"The last chug of an expiring diver, son."

The Effect?

We've never yet seen a ladies' man who didn't have trouble keeping popular with 'em at home.

Young lady at Big Rapids, Mich., swallowed her engagement ring. Looks like this is one engagement that will not be broken.

One thing against trying to be pleasant these days is that everybody thinks you are running for office.

WALKER-BRITTON BOUT LEFT SMELL

Boxers Are Called Off After Mickey Has Taken Jack's Title Away—Walsh Lists Lot of Queer Facts About Fight.

(By Davis Walsh.)

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, Nov. 2.—Under rather unseemly circumstances, Jack Britton was stripped of his world's welterweight title by a young person known as Mickey Walker of Elizabeth, N. J., after fifteen questionable rounds at Madison Square Garden last night. To the writer the fight appeared to bear an unsavory aspect. Perhaps it was quite all right. It is hoped for the sake of the boxing game in this locality that it was.

However, for the benefit of those who profess to believe that the passing of the title was a natural and unpremeditated occurrence, we cite the following facts in chronological order:
A half hour before the bout a prominent fighter told the writer that the betting odds had changed quite suddenly from 1 to 3 on Britton to 5 to 5 on Walker, and that all bets would be declared off from the ringside.

The so-called wise money, it is alleged, was down at those odds. The really educated money, upon investigation, said that Britton would be knocked out in the tenth round. Perhaps it was a mere coincidence that Britton was on his hands and knees, taking a count from what appeared to be a terrible punch on the shoulder, when the bell rang, ending the round in question.

Finally the fighter's prediction was borne out in toto when Jose Humphries bawled from the ring that he "wished to announce on behalf of the New York State Athletic Commission and the management of this club, that all bets on this contest were hereby called off."

That was the first time any such announcement has been made from an American ring for many years. Just what succession of events may have prompted the declaration is not known for the reason that the writer was unable to locate William Muldoon, chairman of the commission and fount of information on such topics.

These observations are presented for what they may be worth. There is neither animus nor spleen behind them; merely the setting down in orderly array the facts as we see them.

Not a few competent critics seem to feel that Jack Britton's downfall was the result of age, the time-worn formula of the pitcher going to the well once too often. How they reconcile this view with the fact that Britton was buffeted all over the ring by a fighter like Walker when he was able to make a mess out of a clever man like Benny Leonard only a few months before, is not altogether clear.

Judged purely on its merits, as fought, the bout was a joy ride for Walker. He started pummeling his man in the first round, walking right into him fearlessly as though he was stepping up to an armless paralytic. In the second round he caught Britton off balance with a left hook to the jaw and Jack went down momentarily losing his mouthpiece during the general excitement. Starting with the third, Britton began to box like the champion he should have been and until the sixth, made Walker look very silly. That was the end however.

From then on to the fifteenth, the youth was in front from going to ring, scoring knockdowns in the sixth, tenth and twelfth and in general, having the time of his hilarious young life. At the end there was not the slightest doubt to whom the verdict would go, some of the customers raising a cheer before Humphries could finish his announcement.

After he proclaimed the winner, the announcer demanded "three cheers for the greatest champion

HARDING OBSERVES TWO BIRTHDAYS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, Nov. 2.—President Harding celebrated two birthdays today, one as Warren G. Harding, the other as president of the United States.

Fifty-seven years ago today, Mr. Harding was born in Morrow county, Ohio. Two years ago today, he was elected president of the United States by the greatest majority in history.

Congratulatory messages poured into the White House today in an endless stream. They came from all parts of this country and many from abroad.

No special celebration was held at the executive mansion. The president planned to spend most of the day at his desk and in Mrs. Harding's sick room.

ROME TAKES STEPS TO REASSURE JUGO SLAVS

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, Nov. 2.—Both Austria and Jugo Slavs are massing troops on the Italian frontier, according to unofficial reports received here today. It is rumored that the aggressive policy of the new Fascist government at Rome has led to fighting on the Jugo Slav border near Sussac but this is not confirmed. Advice direct from Rome said that Premier Mussolini was taking steps to maintain peace on the Adriatic and that there was no danger of war between Italy and Jugo Slavia.

Sforza Retains Post.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Paris, Nov. 2.—Count Sforza has withdrawn his resignation as Italian ambassador to France, it was announced today. He had stated previously that he was opposed to the policies of the new Fascist government at Rome. The Italian legation in Paris without confirmation of reports of fighting between Italians and Jugo Slavs near Fiume.

SECRETARY WEEKS SHAKEN UP IN AUTO ACCIDENT

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Springfield, Mass., Nov. 2.—Secretary of War John W. Weeks, was shaken up and slightly injured here, it was learned today when the automobile in which he was riding last night collided with another machine. With Secretary Weeks when the accident occurred were State Senator George Chamberlain and other associates. Secretary Weeks kept his speaking engagement here and continued his tour in behalf of the election of Senator Lodge and Governor Cox.

Manhattan Brought Small Price.
The three-hundredth anniversary of the founding of New York will be celebrated in 1923.

L. Witter van Hoogland, in an article "Holland and Her Colonies," just published, retells in an interesting way the story of Peter Minuit's purchase of the island of Manhattan, 24,000 acres, for $20, the assessed valuation of which is $4,000,000,000. Minuit, who later became first governor of Manhattan, represented the chartered West India company of Amsterdam.

Up to half a dozen years ago it was generally believed, and in many circles that belief persists, that New Amsterdam was founded, not in 1623, but in 1624. Recent investigation and discoveries point to the fallacy of this contention, says Mr. Van Hoogland.

Butter or Beauty?

A young woman of Petrograd, relates a Russian paper, recently received from her mother, a farmer in the suburbs a pound of butter, at the present time, is a royal present, and it is no wonder that the most seductive offers were made to the happy woman; millions and millions of rubles being thrown at her feet. She despised them, however, preferring to keep her butter.

But at last there came a man who, being an expert psychologist, offered her a—pot of cold cream! Immediately the lady accepted the barter, demonstrating that the desire for beauty is stronger than—the taste for butter!

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

MARY GRAHAM BONNER

GRANDPA GRAY FOX

"It is too bad, but it cannot be helped," said Grandpa Gray Fox, and all the little foxes said:

"What is it that cannot be helped?"

"We like to make our homes in the hollows of old trees, or we like to make them where there are ice caves and rocky dens."

"We do not care to burrow for a home as our cousins, the Red Fox family, do."

"It cannot be helped that we do this way, for it has been the way of gray foxes for years and years and years."

"It is too bad that this is our way and that we should care only for such homes because we can be captured more easily than our cousins."

"Our cousins burrow away and make their home where they can be safe and hidden, but we like homes all ready made for us."

"We're somewhat like people who care to live in furnished homes."

"Others like the kind where they fix it all up themselves."

"It is not that we do not care about our homes, and it is not that we do not care for home life."

"We do."

"But we care for homes already made. They seem to appeal to us most, and we don't seem to be able to change our homes, as I've said."

"Of course our cousins are safer. But we will have to run the risks for the sake of doing our own way."

"And, after all, it is quite natural. Quite natural."

"It is true, too, that our fur is more popular than that of our cousins, the Red Fox family; but I will not talk about that."

"And all the little foxes shivered and said:

"Please do not talk about that."

"Then, too," Grandpa Gray Fox continued, "we're not as shrewd and cunning as Mr. Red Fox and all of that family."

"We must admit that they are smarter than we are in knowing how to escape and in knowing how to fool those who're on the lookout for them."

"But we know how to climb trees. Ah, yes, we know that."

"It is something we love to do, too," said the little foxes.

"Good!" said Grandpa Gray Fox, "for from a tree you can often see away into the distance. At any rate you can see further than if you were down on the ground."

"In the Hollows."

"And up a tree you are safe if a dog is hunting you."

"But best of all," said the little foxes, "it is such fun to climb trees."

"The Gray Foxes," Grandpa Gray Fox continued, "are good to their children, just as the members of the Red Fox family are good to their young."

"We would think it disgraceful not to be kind and good to the dear little foxes. Both the Daddy Gray Foxes and the Mother Gray Foxes are very devoted to their children."

"It is the same with the Daddy Red Foxes and the Mother Red Foxes, as I said, too."

"And we are all happy in our homes. The Mother and Daddy Red Foxes and the Mother and Daddy Gray Foxes are devoted to each other."

"Such happy fox mates as there are!"

"Grandma Gray Fox has been my devoted mate all my life. She is such a dear, dear Fox."

"And Grandma Gray Fox smiled at Grandpa Gray Fox."

"You've talked to the little foxes quite awhile," said Grandpa Gray Fox, "and I know that they've enjoyed it so much that they've doubtless worked up an excellent appetite. I've prepared a little banquet for them."

"Now, children," said Grandpa Gray Fox, "you see what a wonderful grandmother you have; so dear and kind and thoughtful of the little foxes."

"And the little foxes grinned and began to frolic at the pleasant thought of the banquet."

"Then Grandma Gray Fox brought forth a banquet of nuts and fruit and the foxes ate until they could eat no more, which was something they thoroughly enjoyed—as it is something so many enjoy, animals and other creatures!"

DELICIOUS DRINKS

A delicious drink may be made by combining grape juice with ginger ale.

The two flavors blend well, and one gives zest to the other.

Grape Juice and Ginger Ale Jelly—Heat a pint of grape juice with two tablespoonfuls of sugar. When hot, pour over two tablespoonfuls of granulated gelatin which has been soaked in a little water. Add one pint of ginger ale. Cool, let stand on ice until ready to serve.

Coffee Marshmallow Cream—Soak two tablespoonfuls of gelatin in two tablespoonfuls of cold water until soft. Add two cupfuls of strong, boiling hot coffee and stir until the gelatin is dissolved. Add one fourth cupful of sugar, one cupful of condensed milk, one-half teaspoonful of vanilla and one-quarter of a cupful of marshmallows, added just before chilling.

Fruit Jelly—Pour two cupfuls of boiling water over one-half cupful of sugar, and when dissolved add two tablespoonfuls of gelatin soaked in two tablespoonfuls of cold water, then add one cupful of pineapple juice, three tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, and when the mixture begins to thicken add one and one-third cupfuls of pineapple cut in cubes. Run a mold in cold water and turn in the mixture.

Milk Jelly—Soak one and one-half tablespoonfuls of gelatin in one-half cupful of water. Cook two cupfuls of milk with four tablespoonfuls of sugar and the grated rind of a lemon over a slow fire. Add the soaked gelatin and stir until dissolved. Let stand until the milk is well flavored, then strain into a wet mold. Serve with cream and sugar.

When punch has a delicious flavor and is very refreshing. Take one cupful of whey and one and one-quarter cupfuls of sugar and boil together for five minutes. Cool and add one quart of whey, the juice of two lemons and one cupful of shredded pineapple.

Wild Plants Valuable.

Many wild shrubs and plants which grow profusely in the semi-desert region of Mexico have been found to contain valuable commercial properties. This is especially true of the wild guayule shrub from which crude rubber is extracted. It was about 25 years ago that the discovery was made by a chemist at Saltillo, Mexico, that the desiccated guayule shrub could be made to yield crude rubber in paying quantities. Following this discovery, the utilization of the desert shrub was started, and in the course of a few years became one of the important industries of Mexico. During the year immediately preceding the downfall of President Porfirio Diaz crude rubber from the guayule shrub to the value of $60,000,000 was exported from the Torreon consular district.

WILLIAM G. MERRITT

Vote for a man who will always protect the interests of your county and who will never introduce a bill in the Assembly to make the taxpayers reimburse the owners of a monopoly in the shape of a decrepit ferryboat.

VAN ETEN A FIT COUNTY TREASURER

Republican Nominee's Qualifications so Indisputable That the Democrats Endorsed Him.

In selecting William H. Van Eten as nominee for the important office of county treasurer, the Republican party selected a man of wide acquaintance, thorough business training and experience, who will bring to the office experience and talent of high order.

Mr. Van Eten was born and always has lived in Kingston. He was born November 11, 1874, was educated in the common schools and at Kingston Academy, and in 1891 entered the employ of the Kingston National Bank, which a few years ago became the Kingston Trust Company.

After twenty years' banking experience, in April, 1891, Mr. Van Eten resigned his place in the bank on account of the death of his father, Jason C. Van Eten, to take up his father's interest in the well known trucking and express firm of Van Eten & Hogan, to which he has since devoted his time.

For three successive terms Mr. Van Eten was chosen supervisor of the Eleventh Ward and served throughout his term with credit to himself, his constituents, the city and the county. In January of this year he accepted the appointment by Mayor Crane as a member of the board of public works, of which he is now a member.

Fraternally, Mr. Van Eten is a member of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, Free and Accepted Masons; Mount Horeb Chapter, No. 77, Royal Arch Masons; Roundout Commandery, No. 52, Knights Templar; Cyprus Temple, Ancient Arabic Order Nobles of the Mystic Shrine of Atlantic; the Kingston Shriners' Association; Kingston Lodge, No. 550, E. P. O. Elks, and the Kingston Club.

It is gratifying to the people of the city and county that Mr. Van Eten's nomination by the Republican party was endorsed by the enrolled Democrats on primary day.

"ORPHANS" FILL THE OPERA HOUSE

The showings of D. W. Griffith's great picture, "Orphans of the Storm" at the Kingston Opera House this week are being attended by large audiences who pronounce the picture the greatest ever recorded, even outdoing "The Birth of a Nation" and the other big productions. The picture is packed with thrills, suspense, action, drama and comedy in turn and presented with a special augmented concert orchestra with the original musical score, well deserving the praise it is receiving. On account of the stupendous production only two shows can be given each day in order to give the film its proper presentation. The afternoon shows start at 2:30 and the evening performance at 8:15. The picture will be shown twice daily for the balance of the week.

The picture is adapted from the stage classic made famous by Kate Claxton, "The Two Orphans" but in it Mr. Griffith has woven historical romance with the thrills of some of the maddest days of the French Revolution. The parts of Henriette Girard and her foster sister Louise, the two orphans, are taken by the Gish sisters, Lillian and Dorothy. Throughout the entire picture there are thrills, one after another. Early in the story Danton, the leader of the French Revolutionary uprising, is sought out by thugs hired by the Royalists to kill off the Revolutionists. Danton fights off the advance guard and finds refuge in the lodgings of the orphan Henriette Girard, who diverts the pursuers elsewhere. Later Danton repays the favor by pleading for the girl's life before the Revolutionary tribunal and by riding with her reprieve to the steps of guillotine. The ride to the rescue is punctuated with action, a sharp battle between horsemen taking place at the gate of Paris. The abduction scene of Henriette, the duel at Bel-Air, the adventures of the blind sister Louise, the orphan sister, and the meeting of the two sisters at the Tribunal and under the guillotine and finally the depiction of the little heroine's fate, are among the high points of the great story that weld together the old "Two Orphans" and the French Revolution drama.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATRES

"Orphans of the Storm" at the Kingston Opera House. Notice in another column. Reserved seats are on sale for all performances.

"Thillie," starring Mary Miles Minter, is the attraction at Keeney's tonight. The efforts of a sensitive and intelligent girl to escape from the sordid environment of her Pennsylvania Dutch farm home, and her renunciation of the Menonite faith to escape an unhappy marriage make fine dramatic material in Alice Byron's adaptation of R. Martin's famous novel and play. Harold Lloyd in a snappy comedy is also programmed. Friday and Saturday, Raymond Hitchcock in "The Beauty Shop" is Keeney's stellar attraction. Ruth Roland in "The Timber Queen" is the snappy serial attraction at the Auditorium tonight, also Bert Lyell in "The Idle Rich."

Today new vaudeville again consisting of four acts at the Orpheum Theatre. The big Paramount feature is "The Loves of Pharaoh," and deals with the love of an Egyptian king for a beautiful slave girl, an infatuation which drove his country into a disastrous war and brought about his own death.

"Mother Why Not Try The Newer Form Of Iron"

And Be Strong and Well and Have Nice Rosy Cheeks Instead of Being Nervous and Irritable all the Time and Looking So Haggard and Old?"

"The doctor gave some to Sussie Smith's mother and she was worse off than you are and now she looks just fine." There can be no healthy, beautiful rosy-cheeked women without iron. Good physicians have strongly emphasized the fact that doctors should prescribe more of the newer form of iron—Nuxated Iron—for their nervous, run-down, weak, haggard-looking patients. When the iron goes from the blood of women the roses go from their cheeks, and strength and vitality from their bodies. This newer form of iron, like the iron in your blood and like the iron in certain green vegetables, is highly recommended to thousands who wish quickly to increase their strength, power and endurance. It is surprising how many people suffer from iron deficiency and do not know it. Iron is absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much of what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you strength or good. You don't get the strength out of it, and as a consequence you become weak, pale, and sickly-looking, just like a plant trying to grow in soil deficient in iron.

You can tell the women with plenty of iron in their blood—rosy cheeks, healthy, rosy cheeks, women full of life, vim and vitality. You can get Nuxated Iron from any druggist under an absolute guarantee that it will do the same for you or your money back.

For sale in this city by McBride Drug Stores and all other druggists.

CLUBS BEGIN PSYCHOLOGY STUDY

The Monday and Atharhacton Clubs held their first joint meeting of the season on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of Mrs. J. G. Van Slyke on Marlus street. Dr. Washburn, Professor of Psychology of Vassar, was present and gave the first of her series of lectures on Psychology. Her topic on Wednesday was "Brain and Mind." With the aid of a model of the human brain and a clever chart prepared by herself, Dr. Washburn made very clear the functioning of the brain and nervous system, so far as is now known. Then she described the mind or consciousness which is present in us when we are awake or dreaming but not when we are dreamlessly sleeping. The contents of the mind are best known while the contents of the brain we have to know by hearsay since no one has ever been able by means of X-Rays or opening up the skull to actually see the definite operations of the brain. Upon this necessary and sure foundation of the physical brain and nervous system, and the inferred mental processes, Dr. Washburn will build up her course of lectures. Next Wednesday afternoon she will speak on "The Arrangement of Receiving Special Important Stimuli," and the meeting will be at the home of Mrs. George Burgerin, 7 Johnston avenue, at 4 o'clock promptly.

The Atharhacton Club program for papers of the club members following Dr. Washburn's lectures is as follows:

January 3, Child Psychology, Miss Van Hovenberg.

January 10, The Psychology of Adolescence, Mrs. Stelle.

January 17, The Psychology of Beauty, Mrs. Dunbar.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Very Popular "Combination." 3978-3983-3986. Cape suits are much in vogue this season in cloth, blue, silk and also in pongee and glingham. In this illustration we have a smart blouse style pattern 3978, a new and practical skirt, pattern 3986 and a very pleasing youthful cape pattern 3983. "Kittie" plaid suiting was used for cape and skirt, and Canton crepe for the blouse.

The blouse is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It requires 2 1/2 yards of 36 inch material. The cape is cut in 4 sizes: 14, and 16 years for misses, and medium, (38-40 bust); large (42-44 bust) for ladies. The skirt is cut in 6 sizes: 25, 27, 29, 31, 33 and 35 inches waist measure. Cape and skirt will require 6 yards of 40 inch material for a medium size. The width of the skirt at the foot with plais extended is about 2 yards.

This illustration calls for three separate patterns which will be mailed to any address on receipt of 12 cents for each pattern in coin or stamps by The Freeman Pattern Department, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state size wanted.

Van Wyck; treasurer, Mrs. Mollie Conine. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Nelson Hedec on Thursday afternoon, November 9th, at 2 o'clock. Leader, Mrs. Conine. Bible word, "Truth."

PLATTEKILL.

Plattekill, Nov. 2.—The Halloween entertainment given at School District No. 8, was a decided success as usual. The cleverness of the scholars reflects the splendid training of Mrs. Nabor, and both are to be congratulated.

A masquerade was held at the Grange Hall on Wednesday evening of last week.

Luther Terwilliger has sold his grocery store to Henry Blace, who took possession November 1st.

The Ladies' Aid Society will hold a meeting at the home of Mrs. Garrison on Tuesday afternoon, November 7.

Charles Fowler, who has been confined to his bed for some time, is reported as being worse.

An error was made in stating the date and place of the donation for the Rev. Mr. Seamon. The place is the Methodist Church and the time is Friday evening, November 3rd.

ROSALIE SHANTY'S ASSAILANT JAILED

11-Year-Old Raymond E. Wilson, Ex-convict and Twice Married, Makes Complete Confession of One of Michigan's Worst Crimes.

(Copyright, 1922, International News Service.)

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Muskegon, Mich., Nov. 2.—Raymond E. Wilson, 41, of Grand Rapids, Mich., confessed to the abduction and attack upon 11-year-old Rosalie Shanty, to Assistant City Prosecutor Glenn Dunn shortly before daybreak today after an all night grilling.

At the time of the confession, Chief of Police Peter Hansen and Sheriff William O. Mathews were present.

Wilson is a former convict, husband of a 16-year-old girl, and father of a small daughter.

With a cigarette in his mouth and just a driffted in a chair after an ordeal which lasted for hours, he calmly related the sordid details of one of the most atrocious crimes that has ever taken place in this country.

"I had been drinking moonshine," he said, at one time during the recital of what he had done. "When we were several miles from Dublin, Mich., I stopped the car. I don't know what made me do it, but I just lost control."

Wilson is about six feet tall and weighs more than 170 pounds.

In his startling confession, Wilson said that Rosalie ran away from him, screaming with terror at 5 o'clock last Sunday evening. She was not found until the following Tuesday at 6 o'clock in the evening. The police were amazed to find the little girl had wandered through the pine clad forests of northern Michigan for hours.

Here is Wilson's confession:

"I came to Muskegon from Grand Rapids the morning of October 27. I went to Archer's, No. 533 Eastern avenue and stayed there until Sunday morning, when I took Mr. Archer to the Continental (factory) in my Paige car."

"I went to Eaton's boarding house for breakfast. Then I went to the Paris Hotel and obtained lunch."

"In the meantime I had got hold of some moonshine and had drunk quite a lot of it. I had been planning on going to Dublin, Mich., where my second wife lives."

"About that time I got to thinking about this girl, Rosalie Shanty, whom I had seen at the bathing beach this summer. I wanted to take her with me."

"I wasn't sure I knew her right name, but I knew about where she lived. I drove up that way and stopped two little boys. I asked them where she lived. They told me."

"I asked Rosalie's mother who came to the door, if Rosalie could come to my Eastern avenue house for dinner with my little girl."

"She said Rosalie was in church. She told me where the church was. Rosalie came out about 20 minutes later."

"I drove over towards her and told her that her mother said that it was all right for her to come along in my machine."

"The two boys got in but got out a short time later. I told her I was going for a ride and started for Dublin."

"I told her I would bring her home that day, along about 5 p. m. When I was within several miles of Dublin, I stopped the car."

"We both got out and walked over to some scrub oaks. I don't know what made me do it, but I lost control."

"She ran through the woods screaming and crying. That was the last I saw of her."

"I drove to William Long's. That night I went for Susie Jansen. I returned to Long's later that night and later I went to my wife's folks' house. From there I went to Grand Rapids."

Wilson was lodged in jail here. Threats of residents of Muskegon to "get" the prisoner, prompted the authorities to take extra precautions to guard him.

CADLE BROUGHT ABOUT EFFICIENCY

When by appointment of Governor Miller, Charles L. Cadle took office as Superintendent of Public Works in February, 1921, he undertook at once a reorganization of the canal administrative and operating forces, in order to insure an economical yet efficient management of the state canals. Unnecessary employees were dropped; duplication of duties avoided by the consolidation of positions; more effective methods of progressing repair work were applied; the accounting and disbursing systems were modernized and the canal management conducted along business lines.

During Mr. Cadle's first year as Superintendent of Public Works the canals were freed from Federal influence and control in connection with the movement of freight. The Federal operations were undertaken as a war measure, but although the Armistice was signed in November, 1918, they continued during the seasons of 1919 and 1920. Whatever efforts were exerted by the state to have the government competition withdrawn were not successful during 1920. In January, 1921, one of Governor Miller's first acts was to send a special message to the legislature on the subject, urging that immediate steps be taken to secure from Congress the passage of United States Senator Wadsworth's resolution exempting the canals from further undertakings of the United States government. The resolution on the subject introduced by State Senator Knight was passed, and the matter vigorously pressed at Washington, with the result that legislation was had at Washington in the latter part of February freeing the state waterways from the evils of Federal competition.

Towing Service Discontinued.

To Superintendent Cadle is given the credit for the removal of another form of governmental interference, namely, the towing of canal boats by the state at nominal rates. During the barge canal construction the towing path was destroyed in some localities and retained in others, and the state in its effort to maintain navigation, undertook to give a towing service to the old type barges as a temporary measure. It was not expected that this aid would be continued after the new waterway was opened for its entire length. Although the barge canal was declared finished in 1918, the state continued in the towing business during the two succeeding seasons of 1919 and 1920. The service rendered was not only admitted to be grossly inefficient and unsatisfactory to boatmen, but the loss to the state was enormous. In the season of 1920 alone, the return for an expenditure by the state of more than $293,000, the state received in fees less than $69,000. The practice was prejudicial to the best interests of the canal. As the situation existed in 1919 and 1920, those operators who were desirous of carrying on their enterprise in a businesslike manner were actually forced to combat two powerful agencies—on the one side was the State of New York moving boats of less well equipped competitors at nominal charges; and on the other was the United States Government seeking to secure freight for transportation at rates less than cost. Freed from these handicaps, and having been left open to development by private enterprise alone, the canal is making long strides to ultimate success.

Deeper Channel Available.

Due to the energetic work performed by the department, boats were able to navigate the canal loaded to a depth greater than ever before. During the present season, in spite of the extraordinary floods of June, which, through tributary streams, carried thousands of tons of material into the channel, the waterway was maintained in splendid shape. Boats loaded to ten feet, and more are now using the waterway, which is eighteen fathoms to two feet greater draft than was possible previous to 1921. The increased depth was a great boon to canal commerce, inasmuch as a difference of six inches in the depth to which a barge may be loaded, spells profit or loss to the carrier.

To make doubly sure that the channel was of full depth, and as well to ascertain the exact location and nature of any obstructions, Superintendent Cadle not only took over the task of making channel tests, but has also operated a canal barge between the Hudson river and Lake Erie. During the present month such vessel loaded to a depth of ten feet four inches, and manned by department employees, passed through the canal to Buffalo.

Increased Facilities Provided.

Nothing has been neglected to increase the facilities for water transportation and to render the passage of boats safe, convenient and speedy. Previous to 1921 the buoy lighting system existed only in certain portions of the canal, and the lack of proper channel markers and lights prevented the use of the waterway during the night time as had originally been planned. During the past year over 400 additional channel lights have been installed, and with an insistence upon a faithful performance of their duties by the employees assigned to that work, the lights have been maintained in good order, with the result that for the first time navigation continued in the night time in large volume.

Improvements are being made to the situation in the Mohawk river section. Complaints from boatmen as to difficulties in entering certain of the river locks, which had been experienced in previous years, were given prompt attention by Superintendent Cadle and work at once was started in building structures at lock entrances to guide the craft safely into the locks.

Under legislative appropriations approved by Governor Miller, the work of building state repair shops and dry docks for the repair and reconstruction of boats have been commenced at three locations along the canal system. Tugs, scows and dredging equipment have been purchased and the facilities of the department to maintain navigation and assist freight boats suffering damage largely increased. Land for the establishment of additional terminals in the city of New York has been acquired. Cranes, derricks and freight handling machinery of various types have been installed at the state owned docks and warehouses, and the whole canal terminal plant supplied with modern appliances to expedite the receipt and discharge of freight. New bridges have been constructed over the waterways where the demands of highway traffic required, and existing structures have been given constant attention so that they will properly meet the demands placed upon them.

State Canal Grain Elevator.

Under monies made available by the legislature of 1921, the completion of the state canal grain elevator at Brooklyn was made possible. The contract was awarded by Superintendent Cadle in May, 1921, and the work was steadily progressed to completion in August of the present year, a little over a year being consumed in building the enormous structure. Through a statute passed at the last session, the elevator will be operated by the state exactly along the same business lines followed by similar privately owned structures. The rates charged are such as to render the elevator more than self supporting, and at the same time the project will prove a most potent factor in diverting an increased amount of grain from the west through the port of New York. The elevator supplies a long felt want. Hundreds of thousands of bushels of grain already have been handled.

Transportation Agencies.

The success obtained in maintaining the canal plant in good condition is most plainly reflected in the number and character of transportation agencies now in operation. Energetic and capable men have been attracted to the field, and the companies which have been formed to transport freight are well equipped to render adequate service to shippers. The handful of companies which offered service on the canal in 1920 has now grown to 27 carriers, offering both a general and special service. They control upwards of 800 vessels. New boats are constantly making their appearance on the waterway, some of them having been specially constructed for the canal, the others having been transferred from outside waters. During the present year alone the craft

Cooperation With Canal Users.

Superintendent Cadle has kept intimately in touch with the canal freight carrying companies. He adopted the policy of calling them together in meetings where a full and free discussion was had of all problems which affected the movement of boats and the handling of freight. Views between state officials and the operators were exchanged, and criticisms and suggestions cordially invited. The boatman has been made to feel that it is the desire of the state to work in close harmony with him, to the end that the barge canal may be a success.

LOCALS OUTCLASS SCHENECTADY TEAM

At Armory Wednesday Evening, by 30 to 16 Tally—Borgeman leads. Fifteen Points—Jimmie Clinton Scores Upstater's Four Points in Opening Period.

Row down to Kingston seems to be in order in the New York State Basketball League. Wednesday evening at the armory Schenectady was unable to break through the strong defense of the local quintet and the game was languid. Although the Morgenthaup clan were not pushed very hard, the game was interesting as far as the locals' ability was concerned. The same brand of teamwork that they displayed before is still being shown.

Kingston is sitting pretty at present and from their past performances will be one of the strong contenders for the honors of the circuit. Three teams have now fallen before the local representatives and the local ball bouncers have not been outscored in a struggle. Benny Borgeman played the leading role again in scoring, having fifteen points to his credit. C. and M. Husta were in the lineup for a brief period. Each local player was in the game every minute, which accounts for the few baskets caged by their opponents.

Jimmie Clinton, former Kingston player, is still going good. He scored the most points for the upstater, a field and four from the penalty line. G. Brucker, one of the high men in basket shooting in the league showed little signs of it last night. Reynolds, a diminutive star in the Metropolitan League, was also off form.

Jimmie Clinton was the first to score making good a complimentary shot. From then on Kingston did almost all the shooting. When the first period wound up Kingston had nine points, while the upstater had four. Jimmie Clinton making the four points.

In the last half the visitors shot a few more baskets but they were never near enough to extend the local players. Jimmie Davey made his first appearance and called twenty-two fouls on Kingston and eighteen on the Schenectady squad. The local boys were off on the free shots, caging four. The upstater made good eight.

About a thousand were again in attendance and all seemed to enjoy the contest. Dancing followed the playing, music being supplied by Ballo's orchestra.
